MASTER PRO

Languages and International Management - LIM

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

The Master's programme in Languages and International Management is designed for French and international students with fluency in at least two foreign languages (apart from their native language) who aspire to a career with an international emphasis. The programme offers students a variety of courses in international business (marketing, trade, logistics, negotiation, etc.), as well as courses in languages, where the focus is on acquiring a deep knowledge of the socio-economic and cultural environments of the geographic zones they study. The courses are mainly taught in English but also in Chinese, French, German or Spanish. Through intensive study and training, graduates of this master's programme become specialists in international business capable of evolving in multicultural contexts. Lectures, study groups, role-playing, student projects, and internships all combine to provide students with in-depth professional training.

SKILLS AND CAPABILITIES

Languages : Oral and written proficiency in two foreign languages, plus a third language at beginner's level. A majority of the business-related courses are taught in English. Our graduates are thoroughly trained to work in a professional and international environment.

Management : Working skills and knowledge in a variety of international business functions. Our graduates can lead projects and negotiations in the areas of marketing, trade, as well as logistics. They are also trained in business creation.

Interculturality : Our students acquire a deep understanding of the political, social and economic aspects of contemporary societies under study and learn how to put interculturality into practice.

With the combined skills acquired in the Languages and International Management programme, our graduates are well-positioned to embark upon dynamic and wide-ranging international careers.
